@ LAC (9/8), @ TEN (9/15), @ KNC (10/6), vs HST (10/20), @ PIT (11/3)
STRENGTHS
AA including balance, long speed, explosive acceleration; Vision and Mental Process to recognize/anticipate blocking leverage finding running lanes in zone and gap schemes; Burst thru hole; Contact Balance and Finish; Hands and Adjust to ball; Competitive Toughness in critical situations. Ball security.
WEAKNESSES
Processing, anticipating, and adjusting to pressures vs LB/DL twists; Pass Pro technique execution
SCHEME FIT
He is a RB who fits in heavy run scheme from Gun or under Center w/ Zone (Inside or Outside) and Gap schemes. Must limit use in passing situations because of marginal execution of Pass Pro.
PROJECTION
A starting RB you can win with on Inside & Outside Zone and Gap scheme running game because of his good vision, burst, contact balance, and physicality to finish runs. These traits along w/ his good competitive toughness in SY and GL situations make him a productive RB in any area of the field. He displays good hands and ability to adjust to the ball on Flare-control and Option/Check-down routes used in the underneath passing game as well as in the Screen game. For teams who expect the RB to play a critical role in protection, his opportunity to be used in passing situations may be limited by marginal Pass Pro footwork and UOH.
BACKGROUND
A 3-year RB who has started 24 of 42 games played, including starting 12 of 14 games played in 2019, missing wks 12-13 w/ a broken hand. He returned to play but in none of the 4 remaining games did he take more than 48% of the offensive snaps or notch more than 16 carries. However, despite his limited opportunities in the last 6 wks of the season, his regular-season career-high 1,097 rushing yds was the 11th highest in the NFL and his 13 runs of 15+ yds ranked 3rd (PFF). He has spent the last 2 yrs of his 3-yr tenure w/ the Colts playing for HC Frank Reich, OC Nick Sirianni, and RB Coach Tom Rathman where he has become the featured back in an offense, because of an unexpected Andrew Luck retirement had to rely heavily on the running game using Zone & Gap schemes along w/ RPOs and PAP.
BODY TYPE / AA
He has solid height, weight, and hand size along w/ good arm length on a muscular upper body and thick legs. He possesses good AA w/ good explosive acceleration and power, foot quickness, and balance along w/ solid long speed, agility, and COD.
POSITIVES IN PASS GAME
Aligning almost exclusively in the backfield from either Shotgun or Dot alignment, he can find release lanes and get into routes efficiently in the underneath passing game gaining fast width while turning his eyes back to the ball while running Flare-control routes like Flat or Swing and finding leverage and voids on space-finding routes like Option and Check-down routes. He exhibits very good hands w/ his ability to catch the ball away from his body and good ability to adjust to the ball when thrown in a variety of positions including using his hand to catch the ball thrown directly at his body, elevating to catch a ball above his head, slightly turning back to catch a ball behind him, bending and reaching down to catch a ball below his hips, and extending his arms to catch a ball out in front of him. Following the catch he shows solid ability to secure the ball and get vertical quickly, displays good burst to split 2nd/3rd level defenders, has solid agility & COD to make a LB miss if given some space, and displays good play strength and good contact balance to run thru an arm tackle of a LB or DB. He exhibits solid processing and timing to execute in the Screen game using his good vision and burst to process blocking leverage of the blocks in front of him along w/ smooth, subtle cuts to find creases for productive yards. He shows a solid ability to process his Man protection responsibility vs LB/DB blitz and shows solid ability to effectively chip vs DL to assist the OT before executing his route.
POSITIVES IN RUN GAME
He exhibits a tough, physical running style being able to control his tempo w/ good process of blocking leverage on IZ plays and use his good vision and burst and solid agility to make smooth, subtle cuts to accelerate thru run lanes w/ very little wasted movement. On OZ plays he shows his good mental process and discipline by running w/ patience, continuing to press his angle and use blockers effectively. He has solid speed to get to the edge and his good burst and vision allow him to stick his foot in the ground and change speed to accelerate into a crease. On IZ and Duo plays he is able to use a jump cut when penetration shows in his anticipated lane and is able to get to top speed quickly after accelerating thru the hole. On Power and Counter Gap Schemes, he runs downhill w/ his pads forward and shows good burst when a crease appears. Once at the 2nd/3rd level, he exhibits YAC and finish w/ a very effective straight-arm w/ his off-hand, can spin out of a LB tackle, or can drop his shoulder to rip thru a DB displaying good contact balance, play strength, and physical toughness. He has solid long speed to pull away from most defenders for big gains. He shows good mental process and competitive toughness in his understanding of game situations as he has been very good in SY and GL situations and has the awareness and unselfishness to stay in-bounds at the end of the game w/ the lead and good mental toughness seen thru his quick return to play following injury (broken hand) as well as playing in 2 other games despite being listed as Questionable. He has displayed very good ball security w/ 0 fumbles in 2019.
NEGATIVES IN PASS GAME
He displays marginal Pass Pro fundamentals w/ poor UOH, often turning to use his shoulder to block, and has exhibited marginal footwork as he struggles to keep his feet under him, often ducking his head and lunging at a blitz. When he does keep his feet under him, he tends to catch and not deliver a blow that will stop the charge of the blitz. He has adequate ability to recognize and adjust to LB/DL twist when the OL-man ends up picking up the LB leaving him the DL-man. While other RBs have been used in a variety of routes, the lack of assigned route variety for him beyond Flare-control and Check-down routes give little opportunity to evaluate route running ability although AA and mental processing indicators that show up in other areas might indicate the potential is there to be a good route runner.
NEGATIVES IN RUN GAME
He has adequate ability to create positive plays when there is no running crease wide plays when he is unable to get his shoulders downfield to at least move the pile. Although he had 0 fumbles in 2019 and just 3 in his career, he does allow the ball to get away from his body when making cuts and does not always carry the ball away from defenders as he is running toward along the sideline.
