SCHEME FIT	Any system that has a good balance of Man and Zone Coverage, that allows him the flexibility to play Press and Off Coverage and doesn't put him in direct run fit often.
PROJECTION	A Starting CB that you can win with due to his Physicality and Grittiness in Press Man Coverage to disrupt WR/TEs at LOS and throughout route. Hip Fluidity and transitioning to stay on the hip or on top of WR/TEs on deep routes. Mental Toughness on 3rd down vs quality WR/TEs. Lateral Agility to move very well in Zone Coverage. Competitiveness throughout process of the catch to disrupt WR catch with tight coverage or knocking ball out. Acceleration and Recovery Speed to put himself in solid positioning if beat off LOS. Lacks effort, desire, competitiveness, and mental processing in run support. COD and Balance on Hard Breaking Routes vs WRs who have a good blend of speed, power, and deception at or before break point.

POSITIVES IN PASS GAME
Very good mental processing before snap, knows his responsibilities by lining up over WR/TE depending on offensive formation, motions and defensive coverages. Good LOS skills: in Press Man; matches WR/TEs with good agility and manipulation on Speed and One Move Releases staying in good position, plays with very good accuracy and timing along with good play strength that stuns and sticks to all WR/TE types. Good physical toughness, play strength, and competitiveness to fight through push-offs around LOS by very good WR/TEs with good play strength, good scrappiness, competitiveness, and mental toughness at LOS due to fearless nature against all WRs/TEs. Very good Press Man coverage: on hard breaking routes like hitches; he displays good physicality, hip fluidity, COD, and foot quickness to stay in very good position vs all WR/TEs types with good foot speed and play strength. Wins on deep routes especially on 5 routes with good foot speed, acceleration and solid quick jabs to match WRs with good foot speed and use solid mental processing to take very good angles to get on top or stay tight on WR/TEs hips. Good Off Man coverage due to good footwork in back pedal with very little wasted steps, solid use of his Leverage and takes good angles to maintain Leverage vs WR/TEs with solid foot speed and acceleration. Does a solid job reading WR/TEs steps before break, good acceleration, COD, and hip fluidity on inside breaking routes especially on Digs and Slants vs WR/TEs with good COD and foot quickness. Very good transitioning, acceleration and foot speed in backpedal on Deep routes vs WRs with good foot speed upfield flipping his hips with very good timing to stay on top or have very good positioning, especially on 9 or Post routes, solid Squat technique with good play strength and jam timing to disrupt the routes of all WR/TE types with solid play strength and physical toughness. Good Zone coverage, has very good lateral agility that is fully displayed in Cover 3 that allows him to move upfield and stay on top of WR/TEs running close to full speed, good mental processing to bait QB into throws where he can use his good foot speed and acceleration to get back in position if QB throws ball, good mental processing to match receivers in Cover 3 and use Safety in Quarters coverage as bracket inside while he stays on top of WRs with very good foot speed. Good Ball ball skills in Man coverage, very good scrappiness during the process of a catch will rip ball out or fight through WRs hands vs WRs with solid physical toughness, when engaged with a WR in a jump ball situation, he will use his long arms to control WRs, high point ball, knock it away, solid mental processing to come off his initial responsibility and jump in front of another WR to attempt to intercept ball. Very good mental toughness, competitiveness, effort, and physical toughness on 3rd down vs very good WRs with a blend of foot speed, COD and play strength, ups his game displaying very good Man coverage Press or Off and fights through the catch process until the whistle blows.
POSITIVES IN RUN GAME
Solid run support, does a solid job filling or attacking the C or D gap when he is unblocked, is willing to take on lead block from a FB or pulling OL for teammates to clean up, solid competitiveness and physical toughness to push OL/TE/WRs with solid physical toughness and play strength into ball carrier intended direction, constrict running lane, and force cutback. Solid open field tackling due to technique and form, does a solid job assisting teammates, willing to tackle all ball carrier types in the backfield or close to LOS, makes solid tackles vs all WR/TE types after the receptions from the side or behind with solid effort physical toughness, and play strength. Solid open field tackling due to technique and form, does a solid job assisting teammates, willing to tackle all ball carrier types in the backfield or close to LOS, makes solid tackles vs all WR/TE types after the receptions from the side or behind with solid effort physical toughness, and play strength.
NEGATIVES IN PASS GAME
Adequate LOS skills vs WR/TE that use Double double Move moves releases with very good agility, does well after the 1st move and the second manipulates him and disrupts his adequate balance. In Off Man coverage, he will struggle vs all WR/TE types with good COD, foot quickness, and deception, on hard breaking routes 7 yard plus, especially on Out Routes due to his adequate COD and Marginal balance, After the break on an Out; he flips his hips and his back foot gets stuck causing him to lose balance, stumble, and have marginal positioning. Adequate ball skills lack the hands to consistently bring in interception due to poor hand placement and concentration.
NEGATIVES IN RUN GAME
Marginal run support due to poor desire, effort, competitiveness, and mental processing, when engaged with WR, he doesn't attempt to disengage or gives up with his arms locked watching the play, when ball comes to his side he's easily blocked by all WR/TEs. He will watch his teammates struggle to bring ball carrier down and react extremely late to assist and give up a big gain. Is afraid to stick his head in the trenches on run plays that are in between the A and B gap, he will have good positioning to chase the ball on the backside but once the ball carrier goes in between A or B gap he stops his pursuit immediately, extremely poor mental toughness in red zone, is easily blocked without resistance watches teammates clean up than stick his nose in, marginal ability to shed blocks by a WR/TE with adequate play strength and physical toughness and make a tackle in a phone booth with the game on the line. Adequate open field tackling, struggles to bring down RB/TEs that have solid play strength and competitiveness.
