SUMMARY

A 3rd year DL who has started 29 of 46 career games, including 7 of 13 in 2018 in his 1st under new HC Matt Patricia and DC Paul Pasqualoni, transitioning to a hybrid 4-3 Over/Bear/Okie front for the 2018 season. Spent his 2018 campaign tasked with clogging interior lanes and dominating the LOS vs the run on 1st and 2nd down from a variety of alignments including Over front 3-tech, 0-nose (Bear/Okie), and shade in a highly multiple defensive front predicated on owning the LOS with interior down lineman. Possesses good height, good weight, and elite arm length on a rock sturdy frame featuring tight, defined muscle mass throughout his lower body and a well-packed upper body build from shoulders to midsection. Possesses solid AA overall: Shows very good flexibility in his knees/hips with good body control, solid balance, adequate explosion & agility, with marginal quickness and speed. An elite player vs the run - dominates using elite mental processing and reaction time off the ball to identify and respond to both Zone & Gap scheme with proper positioning/technique, shows a relentless motor and very good play speed in his ability to track the ball through traffic/engagement and make plays on the football. Consistently dominated in the run game vs elite competition with very good competitive toughness in his commitment/willingness to do the dirty work in the run game on the interior. Shows elite play strength and UOH leveraging his gap vs Base, Combos, and Down blocks at the POA - plays with tight hands off the ball with very good placement/timing to capture blockers' chest vs base blocks, utilizing elite length, play strength, and knee/hip bend to anchor and extend for separation. A very difficult player to displace, able to drop his knees/hips and root into the ground vs DBLs and has a natural base off the ball to absorb initial impact vs combos. Defeats Reach blocks after contact, using his reactive athleticism and angles to give him an opportunity for his hand use and strength on contact to knockback OL and control their outside shoulder. Shows elite ability to shed and make tackles in/around his gap -Combination of knee/hip flexibility, upper body strength, and body control allow him to stay low/in control and overpower blockers to reset and engage ball carriers with a strong tackle radius and good timing for solo tackles vs the run. Very good discipline in backside pursuit running down the LOS vs Outside Zone and perimeter runs, stays square to the LOS with good UOH to hold the LOS as he works to the ball with very good angles/anticipation leveraging cutbacks. Makes a mark in the passing game with good mental processing/opportunism employing elite length/good body control to obstruct throwing lanes/threaten quick game and bullet passes batting balls at the LOS, keeps his eyes on the QB and stays in good position for clean up sack opportunities. Low utility as a gap penetration type player vs the run due to adequate upfield burst, wide upper body build, and marginal quickness overall, will struggle to squeeze through gaps firing off the ball working edges or getting skinny in the hole to create penetration in the backfield. Shows marginal ability as a pass rusher overall - Seems resigned to his AA deficiencies as a pass rusher, showing only adequate competitive toughness in his approach/confidence in his ability to make plays attacking the QB. Only adequate in his ability to rush with power, struggles to maintain good pad level through his lower body rushing on a linear plane. Marginal/inactive with his UOH to reset for underneath/inside leverage, marginal quickness/agility limit utility of rip/swim moves on his track to the QB, transparency in his pass rush plan (bull rush by default) allows interior players to anticipate/set accordingly with confidence. Not a dynamic mover in space closing on the QB, marginal speed/explosion into contact on the move lead to insufficient range/closing speed to capitalize on QB hit/sack opportunities in the pocket as well as pursuing QBs once contain is broken in PAP, rollouts, or scrambles. High Quality run defender at 0-4 Tech DT / 1 and 2 Gap due to elite arm length/UOH, play strength, mental processing, and competitive toughness. Should not be expected to generate sacks/QB pressures/push the pocket vs the pass or provide pass rush in stunts/games/1 on 1 on 3rd down due to adequate agility, marginal quickness/burst/speed and UOH.
