SUMMARY

9th year Offensive Lineman who has started 36 of 76 career games including 12 starts in 12 games at LG and RT in 2016. 1st year under Offensive Coordinator Frank Reich and 4th year under Offensive Line Coach Jeff Stoutland where he was asked to execute blocks in a primarily Zone blocking scheme that also incorporated Gap blocking concepts as well as being a crucial part in the Pass Pro with assisting teammates and executing 1-on-1 blocks. Was part of an offense incorporated rookie QB Carson Wentz and rookie HC Doug Pederson's system in 2016. Solid height, good arm length, and adequate weight that displays good AA with good combination of balance, agility, initial quickness, recover, coordination, bend and joint flexion. Competitive toughness is good as he competes consistently at a high level, displays good physical toughness as he can match the physicality of any defender he's going against and good mental toughness to battle through crowd noise on the road and make key blocks in key down and distances and at the end of halves and games. Communication is good pre-snap as he works with fellow linemen to adjust protections or assignments. In the run game, he gets off the ball well with good initial quickness and good first two steps. Gap blocking is solid as he executes Drive, Down and Pull steps well. Demonstrates good strength in his arms and legs to either stalemate or create movement on defender at the POA. Zone/Space block is good, displays good ability to make and sustain contact with good foot speed and understanding of angles to execute Reach, Scoop and Combo blocks effectively. Has good mental sense of time when executing Scoop and Combo blocks that allow him to get on those blocks effectively. UOH is solid as he displays good placement and strength that allows him to control and steer the defender and hands cannot be easily ripped by the defender. Pass pro is good, as he uses good feet to get to his set points and get into a good position to mirror the defender and uses solid bend to be in a good position to absorb contact from the defender. Mentally processes stunts/twists and delayed blitzes quickly which allows him to use his foot quickness to get into position to pick those up with good pad level. Anchor ability is solid, displays good arm and back strength with solid pad level to stay between the rusher and the QB. Adequate when pulling due to dropping his head when engaging, particularly when the defender is significantly shorter which allows him to whiff. Hand timing is adequate and is late consistently as hands drop to his hips on the snap which exposes his chest and makes his punch late in both run and pass blocking situations. Placement is adequate when dealing with a counter move from the pass rusher as they often are too wide and too high which allows the defender to get under him which prevents him from being able to redirect effectively. Overall, he is a starter you can win with, that has played both OT and OG and is most valuable in a Zone blocking scheme due to his ability to get off the ball quickly, use good timing on Scoop and Combination blocks, understand angles and using foot speed to get to defenders in space. Needs to improve punch timing, technique on Pull blocks and hands when blocking counter pass rush moves.
