BEST	COD, Diagnosis, Play Speed, Competitive Toughness, UOH, Pursuit Angles, Open Field Tackling, Man Coverage, Zone Coverage
WORST	Backside Gap Integrity, Processing Option/RPO Offenses, Coverage on Scramble Drill
PROJECTION	Very good starting Strong/Weak ILB in a 3-4 base, that you can win because of due to his run diagnosis and play speed to aggressively fill with a downhill play style. Very good Man Coverage vs good TEs and RBs to mirror them consistently, and good Zone coverage with pattern matching ability vs shallow routes and good range on deeper drops. He struggles at getting washed out of plays due to his aggressive style of play, QBs can manipulate him with their eyes, and is slower to process RPO/Option offenses.
SCHEME FIT	Hybrid 3-4 with multiple coverage/blitz schemes
SUMMARY
3rd year starter, played 48 games with 42 starts. In 2018, he started all 16 games in his first season under DC Mike Pettine and LB Coach Patrick Graham, and 3rd season under HC Mike McCarthy before he was fired. Played mostly Strong ILB in their 3-4 Base, but also played effectively on the Weak side, and the Middle of their Dime/Nickel packages. Primarily a multiple Zone-Blitz defense playing Cover-2/3/4. Was asked to show blitz in the A-Gap often before dropping into coverage. Good AA; good burst &amp; foot speed with very good COD &amp; agility. Solid size and length with solid build and very good hand size. Very good communication pre-snap with all levels of defense. Good vs run at POA; good mental processing to read blocks &amp; diagnose, keys Guards &amp; RBs first steps, very good play speed to work through traffic &amp; leverage proper gaps vs downhill Gap/Iso schemes, and good burst through Zone blocking gaps with good contact leverage against OL. Very good competitive toughness; good physicality to take on OL with good lower body and core strength with solid arm strength to attack, and plays with a hi-motor even when games are one-sided. Displays good UOH &amp; very good hand size to grab stronger OL's chest &amp; shed in any direction, and shows good push and pull technique to disengage. Good physical tackler after shedding, he wraps up and drives through ball carriers to minimize YAC. Very good vs outside run; good diagnosis, maintains good outside leverage as Force defender, good quick feet, very good play speed on his shuffle &amp; alley pursuit, very good angles &amp; stays 3 yards behind wide runs to eliminate cutbacks. Very good open field tackling; he stays square with good physicality &amp; wrap up vs all ball carriers. Very good man coverage; physical with RB at LOS from backfield release, good understanding of RB route tree, very good COD at the top of routes to minimize separation from athletic TEs/RBs/WRs, with good foot speed &amp; angles to stay on shallow crossers. Good in Zone; good physicality to maintain inside leverage vs TEs/RBs, with good range he can show blitz at LOS then he opens towards the wide side &amp; sprints to deep middle in Cover-2, good at passing off &amp; receiving shallow WR/TE routes as a Hook/Curl defender in Cover 3/4 &amp; communicates while doing so, very good at reading and moving with QBs eyes, and good transition quickness to close on passing targets. Good ball skills; quick reaction to find ball, solid tracking concentration &amp; hands to make plays on tip-drill, good drive through targets as the ball arrives, sticks arm in as he arrives to force ball out, and solid at attempting to rip ball out. Solid Blitz; good burst &amp; motor, solid timing, tries to use hard step to set up move across OLs face, good physicality and power to fight through blocking RBs, and a good finish. Aggressive play style, can get washed out of play when aggressive near LOS, and inconsistent gap integrity from the backside as he over pursues Pulling Guards &amp; Zone runs away from him. Elusive RBs with very good mental processing can use their footwork before or after they receive the ball to manipulate his gap integrity as he tries to do too much and bites on counters or hard steps. When tracking ball carriers across LOS he can get walled off by blockers he doesn't see coming. Option heavy offenses effect his play speed; he is slower to process and diagnose Options/RPOs. He plays too high when coming downhill aggressively without breaking down before contact &amp; can be juked by RBs/WRs with good elusiveness. In Zone he can be manipulated, his eyes get stuck on the QB, adequate at turning head to read route progressions that aren't developing in front of him as a hook/curl defender in Cover-3/4, and adequate awareness on scramble drills as eyes stay locked onto QB &amp; he doesn't find receiving targets. In the NFL, a very good starting Strong/Weak ILB in a 3-4 base, that you can win because of due to his run diagnosis and play speed to aggressively fill with a downhill play style. Very good Man Coverage vs good TEs and RBs to mirror them consistently, and good Zone coverage with pattern matching ability vs shallow routes and good range on deeper drops. He struggles at getting washed out of plays due to his aggressive style of play, QBs can manipulate him with their eyes, and is slower to process RPO/Option offenses.
