SUMMARY
4th year QB who has started 51 of 51 career games, missing no games in 2018. Has played entire career under HC Jason Garrett and OC Scott Linehan within a scheme that was pass heavy in 2018 (57% Pass, 43% Rush) and that featured short and intermediate routes out of the Shotgun and off of Bootleg Play-Action. Dallas' OL, which in 2017 was one of the best in Pass Pro and Run efficiency was heavily impacted by the absence of All-Pro C Travis Frederick who missed the entire 2018 season. The trade for Amari Cooper in October 2018 had a positive impact on Prescott by doubling his 3rd down success rate to 40% and increasing his yards per attempt by over 2 yards (4.4 YPA to 7.7 YPA). Solid height and good weight with a thick lower and upper body. Very good AA with very good foot quickness, good long speed, balance and good agility. Demonstrates very good pre snap processing by verbally identifying the Mike LB to set the protection, checking out of play calls based on defensive front and by making audible adjustments to routes (via hand signals) by reading the depth and leverage of S/CB. Good footwork when taking snaps from under Center and Shotgun, showing very good balance when setting his feet with slightly bent knees and flat shoulders. Shows good processing of all coverages post-snap by making both full and half field reads, quickly working through his progressions and identifying open receivers who have found voids in Zone coverage or who have gained separation vs Man. Shows good pocket awareness and sensing of pressure by making subtle movements to step up or move laterally to allow himself space to release the ball. When defenders disengage from OL and are closing in front of his face, shows good poise and very good physical toughness to step into his throws without any fear of taking a big hit. Shows very good play strength, good balance and quickness to escape defenders who attempt to arm tackle him. If he is in a defender's grasp and unable to escape, shows good ball security. Exhibits very good ability to extend plays by sensing pressure, using his quickness to run toward the sideline or step-up in the pocket, keeping his eyes downfield. If targets are covered, shows good decision making by throwing the ball out of bounds or running for positive yardage. Good mechanics from both on and off platform, showing a quick release with very good arm strength, good anticipation and ball placement when targeting stationary and moving targets on both short and intermediate throws. Solid deep ball thrower on Go Routes, showing very good arm strength and solid ball placement slightly over the receiver's shoulder. Shows good decision making to take what the defense is giving him, especially on 3rd downs. Will consistently target higher percentage underneath throws to achieve 1st downs as opposed to targeting lower percentage Deep throws. With the addition of Amari Cooper, took more risks on Deep throws. Good foot speed and ability to sell fakes on bootlegs run off of Stretch OZ showing the ability to outrun unblocked DEs, exhibiting good ball placement when throwing to the right and left. When targeting 15-20 yard Comeback routes off of Bootleg play-action, shows very good body control with good anticipation, arm strength and poise as Defender closes on him, throwing with good accuracy between the receiver's body and the sideline. Very good runner in the Red Zone when plays are designed for him (QB Draws, QB Sneaks and Bootlegs), showing very good play strength and competitive toughness to run through tacklers using his lower body functional strength and good quickness to elude defenders when necessary. Exhibits strong leadership skills in playoff type games, showing the ability to remain poised and vocal positive attitude after poor plays. Solid Deep ball accuracy due to both limited targets and several balls thrown that were significantly off target. Threw limited Seam balls in games viewed. Occasionally holds the ball too long in the pocket resulting in sacks. Good starting QB that you can win with that possesses the physical toughness, durability, accuracy and decision making to consistently move the ball down the field. His traits fit well within any offense due to a combination of mobility both within and outside the pocket and accuracy.
