SUMMARY

4th year DL who has one start in 35 games played excluding his 2015 season where he tore his left ACL before the season began and had no starts in 19 games played in 2017. Has played the last two seasons under Defensive Coordinator, Todd Wash in a 4-3, one-gap defense as a Defensive End/Edge Rusher from the 5, 6, 7 and 9 tech positions lining up on both the strong and weakside of formations, tasked with rushing the C gap from edge positions and keeping outside contain on runs. Has marginal height, marginal weight, thinner but muscular frame, with solid arm length and marginal hand size, very good AA with very good balance, explosiveness, agility, quickness and good flexibility. Very good burst / get off at snap, out of the 3-point stance with his inside hand in the dirt, with very good explosiveness and play speed to quickly get upfield through the C gap and a good ability to read and react to alter his upfield burst depending upon run or pass situations. Very good pass rush ability from 5, 6, 7 and 9 tech positions when rushing the C gap, has a very good ability keep level pads and hips to run the arc creating power from his lower body, good bend and corner ability, very good UOH to properly position and extend into the chest of OL to gain leverage and power to shed the block coupled with using a multitude of power and finesse moves such as bull rush, speed to power, inside rip and swim, inside spin and rip and under to collapse the pocket, with good play strength to drive OL into the QB affecting the throw, and a very good ability to finish pursuit of the QB to make a sack. A solid run defender when in on rush downs against Inside and Outside Zone rushes with very good UOH to gain leverage with a fast rip and under or swim to shed 1 on 1 scoop and reach blocks against Zone to then very good balance and lateral agility to fight through traffic to flow with the LOS, with very good play speed to close in pursuit from the backside on rusher, good mental processor to quickly recognize Zone vs Power rushes, good at holding edge contain, and is patient in his gap integrity combining that with very good short area quickness and agility to come off blocks to make tackles against all rushers. Very good competitive toughness with an aggressive edge to his game who plays consistent all four quarters, will step up in big time moments to make plays, mentally sound to compete play after play without letting his bad plays affect him and will rarely jump offside. When Pass Rushing or run defending, if he does not use an explosive get off coupled the OL beating him in hand placement, he struggles to gain momentum causing play strength to suffer causing him to be overpowered 1 on 1. As he plays fast and explosive, he may tend to over pursue the pocket causing losing edge contain. Takes longer to mentally process Play Action. Struggles to counter scoop, reach, and chip blocks in Power Rush schemes when lined up the strong side of the formation seeing him come off the field on a majority of run downs. Will not consistently win against 2 on 1 blocks due to size and play strength. Overall, he is a very good starter who you can win with in a 1 gap, 4-3 defense as a Defensive End who can play the 5, 7, or 9 technique positions to rush the C gap who will win with very good upfield burst, play speed, and UOH attributing to his very good Pass Rush ability and very good competitive toughness to play aggressive for all four quarters, but will suffer as a run defender coming off the field for most rushing downs.
