BEST Leverage in Open Field Tackling, Hip Fluidity, Range Outside Numbers

WORST Aggressiveness, Angles in Open Field, Ball Skills

PROJECTION A starting FS in a Cover 2 scheme who you can win with that uses range outside of the numbers and stayin in phase in Off-Man coverage against RBs and TEs. Lacks competitive toughness to contribute in run support and poor angles limit his ability to tackle in the open field.

SCHEME FIT Cover 2 scheme as a FS where he can make plays outside of the numbers.

SUMMARY

5th year DB who has 65 starts in 71 games played including 16 starts in 16 games played in 2017. He has played his entire career under Defensive Coordinator, Dom Capers where he lined up at both safety positions in Cover 1, 2, 2 man, 3, 4, and robber coverages. Has very good height (6013), solid weight (208), long and narrow frame with good muscle definition, very good arm length (33.375") and marginal hand size (9"), solid AA with good quickness, good hip fluidity, solid agility, balance, and explosiveness suffer from crossing his feet and from playing with a raised pads/hips rather than an angular body. Solid in man coverage, plays best against larger RBs and TEs, with good hip fluidity to turn and run laterally with RBs and TEs on Comeback, Curls, Drags, and Cut routes where he can come down to play the RB or TE in phase as he keeps his eyes on the QB to quickly react downhill to attack the ball in the air with his long arms. When in the open field he has solid play strength to take down RBs, WRs, and TEs with a shoulder tackle and leverage the ball carrier into the direction of his defensive help. Very good range from a two-high safety position with good play speed to get beyond the numbers making plays toward the sideline on out, comeback, corner, fade, curl, and post routes where he uses solid ball skills to attack the football for interceptions in pass defense. Solid ability to play as a single high safety when called upon to make plays at the numbers on fade and post routes. Has ability to protect against the run when in the box on the weakside of the formation and make tackles flowing from the backside of the play. A solid mental processor who communicates adjustments pre-snap, can diagnose quickly between run and pass plays, and does not bite on play action/RPOs and motions. Has solid competitive toughness to make plays on money downs. Quickness and explosiveness suffer from a stiff upper body, not sinking his hips, playing with high pad level and poor footwork as he crosses his feet causing him to have an adequate ability to play off-man against WRs and shifty RBs on deep and COD routes where he has to turn and run toward the endzone since he is slow to explode after putting a foot in the dirt and is adequate when rarely deployed in Press-Man. Slow when attacking downhill from a single and two-high safety position against the run as he is hesitant to move toward the LOS, where he then has adequate physical competitive toughness playing without aggressiveness to attack ball carriers of all sizes and rarely plays through the whistle. An adequate open field tackler who is slow in mental processing of High-Low and Crossing route combinations from a Deep Zone position, is hesitant to run to the ball, and takes poor angles when attacking the ball carrier. Poor footwork leads him to stop moving his feet, getting caught flat footed rather than break down and shuffle when attempting to tackle, then uses poor form where he does not wrap up tackles allowing the ball carrier to gain extra yards, and needs help tackling bigger RBs and TEs. Adequate ball skills as he is hesitant to move toward contact, will struggle to trail speedy WRs and RBs to stay in phase, struggling to get his hand on the ball to create turnovers. Adequate in run support due to adequate play strengths as he struggles to shed blocks from OL, TEs and even WRs, not reliable to hold gap or contain, not aggressive when attacking the ball. Can't be continually relied upon as a single-high safety in Cover 1 due to play speed. Overall, he is a starting Safety in a Cover 2 scheme at the Free Safety position who will win with very good range to make plays at the numbers on money downs who plays well in Off-Man coverage, and is limited in his ability in run support and an open field tackler due to lack of aggressiveness and poor angles.
