BEST Mental Processing, Play Speed, Arm Strength, Play Strength, Extend Plays, Competitive Toughness

WORST Accuracy on Out-Breaking Routes, Mechanics Under Duress

PROJECTION Starting QB you can win because of who can execute throws at all levels of the field. Makes good decisions and wants the ball in his hands to win the game. Struggles with accuracy on Out-breaking routes and struggles to maintain mechanics under duress

SCHEME FIT Starting QB best fit in an offense that attacks the middle of the field at all levels and uses Play Action to produce deep opportunities.

SUMMARY

8th year veteran QB who has played in BAL for his entire career, starting 137 of 137 games. 1st year playing in OC Marc Trestman's system which is a balanced offensive attack, utilizing quick, short passes while also attacking the intermediate and deep areas. Right-handed QB with very good height and weight, displaying solid AA with good balance, solid speed, and adequate quickness. Shows very good mental processing, before the snap, recognizes pressure and adjusts the protection or changes the play entirely in order to increase the offense's success. After the snap, quickly recognizes the coverage and makes good decisions, working through full-field progressions and finding the open man, will take what the defense gives him, executing open throws in the underneath areas and not forcing balls into heavy coverage. Showed improved mental processing and decision making throughout the season, working through progressions faster and finding the open man more effectively. Has good anticipation on In and Out breaking routes, as well as Comeback routes, releasing ball prior to receiver's break and maximizing space at the catch-point. Has solid accuracy on Screen passes, placing the ball such that receiver can gain YAC, has good accuracy in the short and intermediate areas, over the MOF, on throws to both stationary and moving targets. Has good ability to place balls away from defender and protect receiver from contact. Deep accuracy improved throughout the season, showing good ability to hit receiver in stride running down the sideline and locate balls to give receiver optimal chance to catch 50-50 balls. Has very good arm strength with very good ability to drive the ball across the field and vertically into the intermediate and deep areas, has very good ability to drive balls into tight windows. Has good poise, shows good recognition of pressure and will stand tall in the pocket, keeping eyes downfield and maintaining good decision making ability. Has very good ability to extend plays, shows very good movement in the pocket with very good ability to climb and slide, when flushed out of the pocket, shows good mobility to get to the edge and good ability to throw accurately on the run. Has good play strength and physical toughness, maintaining grasp on the football through DL swat and has good ability to fight through contact and get ball out safely while in defender's grasp, avoiding sacks and turnovers. Has elite competitive toughness, elevates performance throughout the game and in critical moments, is at his best in game-winning situations. Struggles with accuracy on Out-breaking routes at all levels of the field, to the left and right, throwing the ball too far in front of receiver, negating opportunity for catch. Allows lower-body throwing mechanics to break down under duress and when he perceives pressure, rushing through his dropback, not setting feet and driving off back foot, causing him to throw inaccurate balls. Overall, a starting QB you can win because of who can execute throws at all levels of the field. Makes good decisions and wants the ball in his hands to win the game. Struggles with accuracy on Out-breaking routes and struggles to maintain mechanics under duress.
