BEST	Competitive toughness, Football IQ, Adjusting to low throws, Physical blocker
------	---

WORST	Quickness, COD, Explosiveness, Contested throws above his frame

PROJECTION	Starting Slot receiver is a complimentary player who is reliable and fully understands his system. Best in a run oriented offense where he can utilize his size and blocking skills on the perimeter and inside in the Run and Screen game. Wins in the short and intermediate areas of the field and can find voids versus Zone coverage as an inside receiver. He can clear coverage for others with his build-up speed vertically. Lacks the athletic ability and play speed to separate and win versus Man coverage on all 3 levels

SCHEME FIT	Best in a run oriented offense where he can utilize his size and blocking skills while also working short and intermediate areas versus Zone coverage and clearing coverage vertically for others.

SUMMARY

3rd year receiver who has started 35 out of 46 games, missing 2 games in his career. Has lined up primarily in the Slot through 2 different Offensive systems in 3 years. Strong, firm buildwith good height and weight and very good length and hand size. Adequate athletic ability with an adequate combination of quickness, agility and balance. Solid releases versus Off Man and Zone coverages. Solid acceleration off the line and uses multiple stems to get into his routes quickly. Good mental processing toadjustroutes findingvoids in Zone coverage while on the movehaving the capability to find voids and openings when the QB is scrambling. Very good football IQ, size and length makes him an attractive target in the short and intermediate areas inside versus Zone coverage. Uses good play strength and subtle push offs to create separation in intermediate areas versus Man coverage. He gets teammates open with rubs on low level routes versus press Man coverage using his good size and understanding. Has good build-up speed and uses long strides to lift and clear coverage vertically for other receivers. Good hands, capable of making catches fully extended away from his frame. Very good dexterity to work below his frame while stationary or on the move. Good play strength and concentration allows him to fight through pressure to make contested catches in traffic, below his frame and in the middle of the field, including critical 3rd downs. Good mental processing allows him to consistently be in the right place, often lining his teammates up as well. Very dependable as inside receiver versus Blitz, converting Hot correctly for his QB. Very good competitive toughness, has risen to the occasion to score or make critical catches in clutch moments in the Red Zone and 2-minute. Very good blocker at the POA, is involved inside to crack EMOL and scoop the backside DE in the Run game. Good blocker in the perimeter screen game, using good play strength to block man over while also chasing the Safety on the backside and hustling down field to finish plays. Used on chip blocks in protection where he is aggressive and physical. Adequate release versus Press Man coverage. Struggles to avoid jam versus length due to adequate quickness and balance. Has to align off the ball or use motion to avoid re-route versus low man coverage. Adequate play speed makes it difficult for him to separate versus Man coverage on all 3 levels because of adequate athletic ability lackingquickness and COD to separate in short and intermediate areas and the explosiveness to separate vertically. Adequate body control on throws down the field prevent him from making contested catches on the sideline or above his frame. Does not fight through pressure versus tight coverage to win contested throws above his frame. Adequate explosiveness and ball tracking does not allow him to utilize his height and length in the air. Has been unable to adjust his body while keeping his feet inbounds on the sideline on inaccurate throws. Adequate after the catch due to adequate explosiveness and acceleration. Involved in multiple perimeter screens and low level routes and is unable to run away from DB players to create explosive plays.
