SUMMARY

5th season, started 41 of 48 career games with 16 starts in 2016. 3rd season under HC Jay Gruden and OC Sean McVay in an offense that features short and intermediate passing while mixing in a healthy dose of play action for deep passes. Solid height and weight with a firm build, good hand size with marginal arm length. Solid AA displayed by solid agility, COD, explosiveness, quickness, and good balance. Good mental processing pre snap, consistently points out Mike, makes adjustments and audibles to put the offense in the best chance for success. From under center or in the Gun shows good footwork in his drop. Good ability to setup quickly, with 1 and 3 step drops hits and throws with good release speed. For 5 and 7 step drops he works through his progression with good mental processing and demonstrates solid decision making for 1/2 and full field reads working from high to low showcasing solid play speed. Good arm strength has the power to drive the ball downfield with the ability to fit it in small windows especially with deep in and out breaking routes, also uses good torque to follow through on his passes and deliver it with velocity. Good short and intermediate accuracy, he leads the receiver putting the ball on the upfield shoulder and hip giving his man the ability to gain YAC. Displays good accuracy when throwing to stationary targets and solid accuracy while on the run. He has solid touch on short and intermediate throws knowing when to take velocity off certain passes. Solid ability between the 20's at protecting the ball from defenders, he throws it where his receivers have the best chance to make the play. Good ability to extend plays, he'll step up into the pocket and scramble if need be keeping his eyes downfield to make the necessary throw with good arm strength and solid accuracy. Good physical toughness will stand in to make the throw against blitzing defenders and take the hit. Solid mental toughness consistently completes 3rd down throws to convert, and solid ability in the 4th quarter to make plays. Solid play strength has the ability to shrug off potential sacks along with not getting tripped up with defenders around his feet. Adequate decision making in the redzone, he will try to make a play throwing into coverage risking a turnover. Needs to protect the ball better in the pocket with both hands when scrambling to avoid defenders strip sacks. Adequate deep accuracy inconsistent at hitting the receivers in stride and on the appropriate shoulder, he'll over throw his target. Adequate accuracy in protecting his receivers, he will lead guys into contact. Adequate in the redzone with accuracy, he will force throws into double coverage. Adequate Poise, when pressured he will make adequate decisions with lobbing passes up for grabs, and he is inconsistent with his mechanics by falling away from throws and throwing off his back foot. Starting QB you can win with; Good arm strength and accuracy to consistently make the short and intermediate throws, ability to extend plays and competitive toughness teammates can rally around. He does display inconsistent deep ball accuracy with adequate poise against pressure and adequate redzone decision-making.
