BEST Competitive Toughness, Gap Vision, Finish Yards after Contact, Ball Security

WORST Pass Blocking, Processing in Zone Run, Transition after Catch

PROJECTION Rotational RB that thrives in a Gap/Man Based Blocking scheme to utilize his good vision to hit gaps and ability to create when the play breaks down. Would struggle in a Zone Blocking Scheme and when he is asked to consistently block in the passing game.

SCHEME FIT Power based Blocking scheme that incorporates PA passes that complement the run.

SUMMARY

6th year RB that has started 42 of 91 games in his career. In 2015, he played in Josh McDaniels Power Running Scheme with a few Zone Runs scattered in combined with PA Passes, Quick Screens, and 3, 5, and 7 Step Drops. He was used as the Main Power Runner between the tackles on 1st and 2nd downs utilizing Dion Lewis, James White, and Brandon Boldin on 3rd downs and passing situations. Big Bruising Back with a very good frame and weight having good height and hand size. Overall good AA using good lateral agility and balance combined with solid quickness and explosiveness. Solid mental processing pre-snap to recognize defensive alignments with an understanding post-snap to read through level 1 blocks to level 2 to get match-ups with smaller support players in a Power based running scheme. Good vision to find lanes in a Gap scheme to patiently wait for the picture to unfold with solid burst to hit the hole with the capability to create when a play breaks down using good jump cuts to avoid defenders and create positive yardage. Solid play speed to beat solid LBs to get to the edge and turn the ball upfield for critical yards. Shows good play strength with his aggressive nature to run behind his pads having good lean and balance under contact with the ability break tackles and finish runs forward for yards after contact. Good physical toughness to engage in contact over and over with the desire to drive piles and a good ability to finish runs consistently. Good mental toughness to be a closer on 3rd downs, in the Redzone, and at the end of games where the defense knows he is getting the ball with the capacity to continually execute at a high level. Shows good ball security keeping the ball high and tight with the understanding of when to put 2 hands on the ball when being hit. He displays a solid ability to catch the ball out of the backfield on swing passes and stab routes. He struggles to process Zone Runs because of his inability to trust what he is seeing at the 1st level to set up his blocks at the 2nd level, which leads to indecision and missteps resulting loss of yardage. He is not the homerun threat he once was having an inability to run away from secondary defenders. He also has trouble blocking in the passing game because of his marginal awareness of who he needs to block, which leads to adequate technique and an inefficiency to protect the QB. He has an adequate capability to transition after catching the ball and gathering himself leading to defenders closing in on him limiting yards after the catch. Rotational RB that thrives in a Gap/Man Based Blocking scheme to utilize his good vision to hit gaps and ability to create when the play breaks down. Would struggle in a Zone Blocking Scheme and when he is asked to block in the passing game.
