SUMMARY

A 9Yr starting Y & H TE since 2013 for the Chicago Bears, in Adam Gase's, Erhardt-Perkins Scheme with emphasis on a combination of zone blocking, power-run principles. He has won 95 out of 127 games in his NFL Career which include years spent with DAL and NYG. Has above average frame with very good arm length and hand size. Good height and weight displaying good athletic ability with good balance and quickness having good agility and explosiveness. Shows good initial quickness off the snap when coming out of a 2pt and 3pt stance with a good ability to stutter step and use his hand strength to defeat jams. Good mental processing to read coverages and find open areas in Zone Coverage with soft hands to catch balls away from his body. Has good route stem on all routes at the move point to create separation vs good LBs and solid DBs in Man Coverage. Good ball tracking skills displaying good balance and body adjustment to balls in his catch radius using good concentration skills to catch balls in traffic and take hits. Good mental toughness to make key catches on 3rd downs, in critical situations. When catching the ball in open space he has good speed to get additional YAC with the ability to be elusive and run by solid DBs, good LBs and break through tackles. Exhibits good play strength when base blocking at the POA because of his explosiveness, hand placement and ability to uncoil his hips with power to stun the DE/OLB. Good Combo blocking and 2nd level blocking ability with good quickness to get there taking good angles, solid hand strike and ability to sustain his block vs solid DBs and solid LBs. Solid ability to chip and release DEs with good timing off the snap to block the inside shoulder to give his OT time to get wide and protect the QB. Solid ability on Reach blocks, with high pad level and does not get his hat across the face of the defender causing him to lose leverage. Solid in Pass Pro v. faster DL and LB's due to footwork inconsistency to get to his set points allowing defenders to push the pocket. Solid ability to anchor against good DE's due to high pad level allowing defenders to win his chest and push the pocket. Overall, starter that has good value as run blocking, pass catching TE. He has good ability push the LOS with his play strength and find seams v zone coverage, tracks the ball well in the air on vertical routes, and has the quickness to make yards after the catch. He also could return kicks in a pinch.
