BEST	Short area quickness as a Puller, Zone and Screen Blocker, Footwork, UOH, Play Strength
------	---

WORST	Explosiveness
-------	---------------

PROJECTION	Starter who you can win with in both a Gap or Zone running scheme. He is most valuable moving laterally on Pull, Outside Zone or Screens where he can utilize his initial quickness to get out in space. Will be consistent in Pass Pro, making minimal technical mistakes.
------------	---

SCHEME FIT	Will fit within schemes that allow him to utilize his short area quickness: Outside Zone and Screen concepts and within Gap schemes that utilize his play strength.

SUMMARY

4th year C who has started 52 of 52 career games, including 13 starts in 2018, missing Weeks 7 to 11 with a concussion. First year playing under OC Eric Bieniemy and 4thyear playing under OL coach Andy Heck in a Spread scheme that employs a lot of lateral blocking by OL and a versatile Screen Concept game. Elite height and very good weight, with good arm length and a thick frame. Good AA, with good first step and initial quickness, good COD and very good balance. Good in Pass Pro; showing good initial foot quickness, very good UOH, using a single hand strike to create space to slow down pass rush, maintaining a good base with good knee bend and low pad level, hopping back to sustain blocks with good leverage, anchor and play strength. Very good at diagnosing various stunts, picking up looping DEs and blitzing LBs. Shows very good competitive toughness in 1 on 1 situations, playing through the whistle. Very good blocker in space; showing good snap and initial quickness, taking very good angles with good speed when climbing to 2ndLevel and on Screens and Pull blocks, showing good ability to position body with balance to impede LBs/S and CBs from taking good angles toward the ball carrier, showing good UOH when striking to knock defenders off balance. Very good Gap blocker; showing initial quickness when pulling and when Down blocking, taking very good angles to square up defenders, using good hand placement and a good strike to displace defenders with very good play strength. Overall, starter who you can win with in both a Gap or Zone scheme. He is most valuable moving laterally on Pull, Outside Zone or Screens where he can utilize his initial quickness to get out in space.
