PROJECTION	Starting safety best utilized near the LOS where he can use his good athletic ability, mental processing, and effort to make plays in the passing game and run support. Can roll to deep zone in Cover 2 and play from midfield to sideline. Range is an issue in deep zone coverage when in single-high to make plays from sideline to sideline.

SUMMARY

7th year Safety who has played in 90 games and started each one of them throughout his career. Has only played under Defensive Coordinator, Dom Capers, where he is utilized as a starting safety that rolls with coverages and plays both deep and near the LOS, and utilized as a nickel in sub packages. Good frame, length, and solid hand size along with a combination of very good explosiveness, good play speed, good athleticism, acceleration, body control, and solid strength. Possesses good mental processing ability to diagnose formations, make coverage checks, and communicate them to teammates. Good LOS skills where he utilizes good hands, lateral quickness, COD/transitions, and solid play strength to mirror and reroute in Press-man coverage against receivers and TEs with good size, athleticism, and solid strength. In Off-man, good ability to read the hips of a receiver to recognize breaks and accelerates with good burst to work to an intercept point at the top of the route. Very good mental toughness in critical 3rd and 4th down situations and embraces Man coverages challenges and good competitive toughness to limit production from an opponent's #1 target. Solid range in Cover 2 to play from the hash and work midfield to sideline. Good route recognition and hip reads to diagnose receiver breaks at the top of the route, lower his COG and accelerate with very good explosiveness, good burst, and solid straight-line speed to stay on top of the route and In-phase. Solid ball skills, when In-phase, has a good ability to lean and get his head around, locate the ball late, and make an aggressive and solid play on the ball and a solid ability to intercept the ball when thrown inside his frame. When out of phase, displays good recovery speed against opponents with good foot speed or lower, play through the hands with good timing to disrupt the catch, and a solid ability to strip the ball out after the catch is completed. Good run support, displays very good competitive toughness and demonstrates a good ability to read run/pass keys, from the box, and diagnose the run flow. Good ability to constrict the running lane by using proper leverage and good downhill speed. Good play strength and power at the POA, engages blockers, keeps his feet moving, and sheds blocks against opponents with solid play strength. Solid open field tackling, utilizes solid angles and leverage, hits with power, and displays a good ability to drop his COG to square up, wrap up, and bring ball carriers with good play strength to the ground. Very willing blitzing who understands cadences and has a good ability to disguise blitzes. Good acceleration at the snap and has the ability to make linemen miss and put blockers with solid play strength on skates. Good relentlessness and effort in his rush and always fights to finish the play. Allows receivers with very good arm length to create operating space and separation at the top of routes due to an inability to effectively get his hands on them due to his average arm length. Aggressiveness in jumping routes can lead to big plays behind him when playing deep Zone coverage. Adequate range and angles in deep Zone coverage to work to an intercept point downfield on corner and post routes and does not have good straight-line speed to work from sideline to sideline when playing Single-high. Overall, a starting safety you can win with and reliable in both the pass and run game and plays with very good competitive toughness and effort. Most valuable near the LOS where he can utilize his very good explosiveness, good athleticism, mental processing, and solid strength to make plays. Can roll to deep Zone coverage and play with solid straight-line speed and range. Ability to be an emergency corner with his good Press-man and LOS skills. Adequate ability to play the run from a deep Zone technique.
