BEST

Athletic Ability, Competitive Toughness, Mental Processing, Hand Placement vs Run, Leverage vs Run, Run Scheme Recognition, Gap Integrity

WORST

Upfield Burst, Reset LOS vs Run, Shed Block vs Run, Pass Rush

PROJECTION

A 2 down 0-3 tech DT and occasional 5-7 tech DE who can be a 2-gap player in a 3-4 scheme and also be a 1-gap player in a 4-3 scheme. Solid against the run due to his AA, competitive toughness, mental processing, hand placement vs run, leverage vs run, and gap integrity. Needs work on his upfield burst, UOH vs pass, and both finesse/power moves if he wants to become a 3 down DT.

SCHEME FIT

A 3-4 or 4-3 defense as a 0-3 tech DT and occasionally a 5-7 tech DE.

SUMMARY

4th year player who started 32 games while playing 46 for the San Francisco 49ers. Has had 3 defensive coordinators in 4 years with Jim O'Neal taking command in 2016. In O'Neal's 3-4 defense, he played both a 0-2 tech as a DT and a 5-7 tech as a DE allowing him to become both a 2-gap and 1-gap player. Only started 11 games in 2016, while playing 14 total games as he battled with injuries which led to 0 sacks on the year. Has solid size as he has good height (6053), solid weight (318), good arm length (34 1/2), and good hand size (9 3/8). Displays solid athletic ability due to solid balance and agility. Solid run defender due to good run scheme recognition, good mental processing skills as he quickly recognizes IZ, OZ, and power schemes, good pad/hip level, good UOH, hand placement, and hand extension vs the run. Does a good job of keeping shoulders square and maintaining gap integrity even vs elite OL. Displays solid competitive toughness and play strength vs run in that he consistently competes at a high level vs base/reach blocks, is physically tough in the trenches to be a 2-gap player, and is mentally tough enough to maintain gap integrity to allow a teammate to make a play. Has solid pursuit vs run with his angles, range, and effort to make plays which allows him to have a solid play speed to carry out his assignments. Has marginal athletic ability specifically in quickness and explosiveness which contributes to an adequate upfield burst which is due to his poor stance as he sits back on his heels to defend vs run, but will continue to stay in stance on passing situations. Displays a marginal ability to shed blocks and struggles to beat/hold his own against double teams as they are his biggest weakness vs the run. Has a poor pass rush due a lack of a pass rush plan, poor UOH, lack of finesse moves, and lack of power moves; which results in poor play strength, poor play speed, and poor competitive toughness vs pass. His hands die almost immediately vs pass as most OL get their hands on him first and he feels that there is no need to try to get to the QB or even work half a man. Has not developed any moves to beat OL and is not in the game for any 3rd downs unless it is short yardage/goal line situations. Overall, he is a solid 2 down DT who has shown he is solid vs the run due to athletic ability, pad level, UOH, hand placement, run scheme recognition, and gap integrity. He can become even better vs the run if he improves his stance and ability to shed blocks. Needs to completely improve and change his approach vs pass in order to be seen as 3 down DT.
