SUMMARY

4th year OG who has started 48 of 50 games, including 15 of 15 in 2018. 1styear under rookie HC Mike Vrabel, OC/play-caller Matt LaFleur's West Coast based offense(1styear as a play-caller in NFL), and OL coach Keith Carter (1styear as an OL coach). Wasbenched in the second half of week 13, but started again the rest of the season. Solid height, good weight on a top heavy frame, with elite arm length, adequate hand size, and solid AA due to good agility, foot speed, and quickness, solid explosiveness, adequate bend, and marginal balance. Shows good mental processing pre-snap by receiving cue from QB then relaying to OC to snap the ball when in Shotgun and Pistol. Solid get-off on Gap blocks from 2 and 3-point stances. Able to stay square and engage DL and LB in assigned gap. Shows good understanding of when to stay on DBL and when to move on to the next assignment. Shows solid footwork to stay level and square. Shows solid ability to locate assignment on Pull blocks. Solid overall Zone blocking, with solid get off on Zone blocks from 2 and 3-point stances. Solid ability to engage Scoop blocks due to foot quickness to get to POA, keeps solid wide base and footwork. Shows good ability to locate and get to POA on reach blocks due to good agility and short area quickness and long arms. Demonstrates solid ability to block smaller body types in open space/screen plays, such as LB and Safeties. Shows solid ability to sustain Zone blocks due to his solid base and reach. Solid in Pass Pro, as he is able to set a solid wide base from 2/3 point stances while setting good set points due to quick footwork. Shows good set quickness to intersect rushers. Able to recognize most inside threat, and when to shift to more immediate threats due to good mental processing. Able to pick up stunts/twists due to good mental processing. Solid Anchor due to solid back strength and long arms, able to compete against solid power-rushers, maintaining clean pocket for 3-4 seconds. Good mental toughness, able to bounce back from poor play, fought to reclaim starting job after week 13 benching. Adequate overall Gap Blocker, struggles to get push at POA due to adequate play strength and poor UOH (late and outside). Marginal ability on pull blocksdue to habit of lowering his head before making contact which results in whiffs, as well as taking false steps when pulling. Adequate ability to sustain blocks due to poor UOH, resulting in players being able to turn him and make a play on ball-carrier. Sometimes will lower head on reach/2ndlevel blocks causing him to miss defender and have poor hand placement. Adequate sustaining zone blocks due to poor hand placement resulting in being levered by DL. Marginal finish on run blocks due to poor UOH, creating marginal leverage and adequate play strength, doesn't block through the whistle by coming off blocks early if he believes the ball carrier is not near him. Is late on punch in Pass Pro resulting in poor UOH. Is adequate in maintaining half-man relationship vs smaller bodied DL/all types LBs. Marginal ability to deal with counters due to poor UOH and marginal balance, especially against swim moves. Struggles as Anchor against good power-rushers, and can be pushed into QB has to go beyond second read. Adequate overall Competitive toughness due to lack of effort on rollout play-action passes, and marginal aggressiveness show on run plays. Overall starting OG you can win with because of his mental processing, Pass Pro, and Anchor abilities. Best fits in quick pass, zone-blocking scheme that allows him to uses his athletic traits. Ideally would benefit from an experience OL coach to help fix his poor UOH, finishing, and functional strength
