SUMMARY

Three-year veteran safety who saw the first four starts of his career toward the end of the 2015 season as a replacement for injured starter George Iloka. Used in a variety of roles in DC Paul Guenther's secondary, most frequently aligning as a single-high FS in Man-Free and Cover 3. while also seeing action in two-high looks when the Bengals go Cover 2, and Quarters. Will also see some reps in the box, where he can have a more immediate impact in run support, provide Man and Hook/Curl/Flat Zone coverage, and be utilized in blitz packages. Has solid height and good muscularity across a tapered, athletic frame, and displays good flexion in his torso, hips and legs. Well-coordinated, explosive and sudden, displaying good overall athletic ability, highlighted by very good acceleration and speed, and solid COD skills. When aligned as a deep safety, shows good mental processing in his ability to communicate pre-snap alignment changes in response to formations and motion, diagnose run/pass, recognize route combinations in his area, and react by taking proper angles out of his pedal to maintain positional leverage and intersect the route. Exhibits good understanding and prioritization of coverage responsibilities, and shows discipline to sustain Zone and Man coverage vs. play action and broken plays. Leverages his good AA to maintain good posture and speed in his backpedal, showing solid mechanics and burst in his forward and lateral plant & drive, as well as good hip fluidity in his transitions on vertical routes. Combines good K&D with his very good foot speed to show good range, exhibited in coverage in his ability to get to the numbers when aligned as a single-high safety, and provide overlap on vertical routes when aligned as a two-deep safety. Shows solid Man coverage ability, demonstrating solid lateral agility and patience at the LOS to stay square and force TEs and Slots to adjust their release when aligned in Press coverage, solid ability to stay in-phase, match routes and break on short and intermediate routes, and good play speed to stay on the receiver's hip when in Trail on Drive and Crossing routes. Displays good ball skills, taking good angles to the interception point, and showing good timing, anticipation, and leaping ability to high point and either intercept or break up the pass. Is good in run support, exhibiting good competitive toughness to aggressively volunteer, good play strength to take on blockers to set an edge and maintain positional leverage, and very good burst to close to finish in confined areas. Is a mentally tough and consistent competitor, showing the ability to rise to the game situation, with both of his interceptions coming in crucial game situations, and displaying good overall confidence in his abilities to bounce back from bad plays. Is an effective blitzer, showing good timing, initial suddenness and closing speed. Does not display good confidence and comfort in his pedal, plant and transition footwork in Off man coverage, taking false steps and impacting his ability to prevent separation out of the receiver's breakpoint. In run support, struggles with entry angles when running the alley from deep alignments, losing support leverage and allowing the ball carrier to bounce outside runs. Adequate open field tackler when isolated vs. ball carriers with good quickness and agility, struggling to break down and finish in space vs. a two-way go, lunging and diving at feet and missing tackles. Overall, a solid starting safety who offers versatility to execute a variety of roles, possessing the range and mental processing to execute zone coverage responsibilities from a deep alignment, and the physicality and aggressiveness to act as part of the run front when aligned as a box safety. Skill-set versatility will be an asset to teams needing positional and role flexibility in the safety position. Will struggle if required to perform a heavy amount of Off-Man coverage.
