SUMMARY

4th year running back who spent 2018 as his 2nd season in Steve Sarkisian's primarily Zone running scheme, where he was asked to execute Zone runs, pass protect, and regularly run routes from the backfield and from a WR alignment. Possesses a lean, slight frame with very good athletic ability on display in his very good quickness and agility, solid balance, and good explosiveness. Solid competitive toughness, showing a raised desire in key situations and when attempting to fight through contact. Good pre-snap processing to recognize prospective rushing lanes based on defenders alignments. Good post-snap vision, tempo, and mental processing on Outside Zone runs, reading bounce/bang/bend and diagnosing defenders initial movement and allowing his blockers to clear lanes before committing to the path of least resistance or creating horizontally with very good lateral quickness and jump cuts. Solid post-snap vision and tempo on Power and Counter runs, setting up defenders with patience and allowing pullers to kick out or log the POA defender before planting and cutting upfield. Good post-snap processing and tempo on Duo and Inside Zone runs, allowing his OL to reset the LOS before cutting tightly off his blockers hips. Good decision making and good processing ability throughout his runs, recognizing defenders leverage and anticipating holes before they open, with an ability to chain lateral cuts together through traffic and get into the open field due to fluid hips and very good agility. Very good burst, with the ability to plant and cut vertically in an instant, showing the ability to squeeze through small holes, burst past shedding defenders attempting to reach for him, and explode towards the edge when he reads bounce on Outside Zone runs and pitches as well as the ability to reach a 3rd gear to break defenders angles in the open field and separate from defenders at the 2nd level. Good route runner out of the backfield and from the slot/out wide, taking advantage of defenders leverage on Option routes out of the backfield, sitting down in holes against Zone coverage, and setting defenders up through his stem before selling a break and getting vertical with good explosiveness and fluid hips. Very good receiving ability, with the ability to adjust his body to off target balls and gather effortlessly with soft hands before turning into a runner after the catch, showing very good ability to gain yards after the catch and in the 2nd level as a runner, recognizing open field blockers and defenders leverage to weave in and out of defenders with fluid movements and subtle quick twitch cuts. Solid finisher in the open field, with good body control and quickness to evade arm tackles and make himself a hard target to land a solid hit on as well as the ability to time a forward jump to maximize his finish. Solid initial pass protector, showing solid competitive toughness with good mental processing to locate his target, square up, and either cut down a blitz or land a solid hit to neutralize defenders initial pass rush. Adequate ability to maintain burst throughout drastic horizontal cuts, overextending his lower body and losing his footing and balance. Adequate contact balance at the LOS and in traffic due to adequate play strength and frame, will not push piles or truly break through tacklers who have him wrapped up. Adequate pass protector on longer drops where he is asked to sustain blocks or when the QB holds on to the ball due to adequate play strength needed to anchor and lack of technique to mirror rushers horizontally. Adequate ball security making him susceptible to punches and rips when stood up or cutting away from defenders. Overall he is a starting RB you can win with due to his burst, receiving ability, and open field playmaking ability. Best suited for a Zone running scheme where he can utilize his vision and burst to take advantage of vertical rushing lanes and can utilize his receiving and open field playmaking as a receiver on 3rd downs. Can not be asked to regularly anchor in pass protection, get tough yards in short down and distance situations, and should be supplemented with a larger back who can help him handle a large workload due to adequate frame and play strength.
