PROJECTION	Versatile solid starting WR who you can win with best suited to a scheme that uses him on intermediate and deep routes where he can sell the threat of the deep route before using his solid separation quickness to create a throwing window for the QB and solid hands and ability to adjust to the football to make catches, not suited to quick hitting routes as he only possesses adequate YAC ability.

SUMMARY

4th year year WR, who has started 37 of 37 games including 16 of 16 in 2018. Second year under HC Anthony Lynn and third season working with OC Ken Whisenhunt where he was used as a slot, X and Z receiver on a variety of routes Primarily fades, digs, crossers, seam routes and curl routes. Very good height and good weight has a muscular build with very good arm length. Overall a good athlete with good long speed, COD, agility and adequate acceleration. Overall he has a solid release, against Press Bail coverage he drives off the LOS and attacks the DB he can then use his solid play strength to contact the defender as he is running the stem and maintain timing of the route. Against Press Jam he is able to use his solid play strength and good footwork to swipe away the defenders jam and get off the LOS. Against Off coverage he gets off the line quickly and drives towards the defender forcing them to react. He runs a solid stem and shows solid mental processing to vary his stem based on the coverage he is facing to find space in between zones, or attack the defenders leverage. He has solid separation quickness in his breaks and is particularly successful in the intermediate areas of the field against man coverage where he sells the deep route and can then break hard and create a window for the QB to throw to. He wins against Zone by finding the holes and shows solid mental processing to adjust his route to get open. When the play breaks down and the QB has to buy time he shows solid mental processing to change his route to present an option to the QB. He shows good play speed by combining his good athletic ability with solid mental processing to make play quickly. Shows solid hands, with good ball tracking on all routes and shows solid ability to extend his arms and make the catch. Shows solid ability to catch the ball in all areas of the field both on the move and when stationary. Shows solid ability to adjust to the ball, he is able to use his very good height to reach above DBs and high point the football and shows solid ability to adjust to balls thrown above his head, shows solid ability to adjust to balls thrown off target to either side of his body, shows solid ability to adjust to balls thrown below his hips. Shows solid mental processing to understand where the boundary is and has good ability to contort his body and keep his feet in bounds. Overall shows solid competitive toughness, does not shy away from contact over the middle as a receiver and he shows solid mental toughness consistently producing in the 4th quarter when his team needs him he finds a way to help, making tough catches on 3rd down. When blocking he shows a willingness to engage the defender and is able to use his solid play strength to stalemate the DB and help create extra yards for the runner. When the catch is contested by the DB he does not show the ability to hold on through contact to his arms leading to a number of incompletions in this situation as a result. Shows adequate YAC ability lacks the initial acceleration to get upfield quickly and make defenders miss on a consistent basis. Overall a versatile solid starting WR who you can win with best suited to a scheme that uses him on intermediate or deep routes where he can sell the threat of the deep route before using his solid separation quickness to create a throwing window for the QB and solid hands and ability to adjust to the football to make catches, not suited to quick hitting routes as he only possesses adequate acceleration and struggles to pick up YAC.
