SUMMARY

A 4th year DE who has started 50 of 67 career games (4 playoff starts in 5 games) including 9 of 16 games in 2018. Did not start Week 5 @Pittsburgh or 6 of the final 8 games due to a coach's decision based on poor performance. Played first 2 seasons under HC Dan Quinn as a 4-3 OLB and registered a league leading 15.5 sacks & 6 FF in 2016 and earned All-Pro Honors. Regressed during 2017 season, first year under DC Marquand Manuel, due to a left hamstring injury and subsequently transitioned into a full-time DE in his 4-3 stack defensive scheme that heavily utilizes 4-man pressure with Cover 3 where he was primarily deployed as a 7-9 Tech LDE to rush the QB and be the Force/Contain player vs. the run. Slim frame with adequate height, poor weight, marginal arm length/hand size, thin legs with good AA displayed by good explosiveness/long speed, solid balance/stop-start quickness, and adequate agility/COD. Displays solid upfield burst vs. Gap/Zone run schemes and quickly diagnoses Zone read/shotgun runs as end man on LOS while keeping shoulders square and executing contain responsibility with good upper/lower body strength/explosiveness to stone pulling OL. Leverages upfield burst/play strength/hand placement to stalemate solid OT and maintain contain responsibility as weakside defender vs. Gap. Displays a solid motor to leverage ball on outside runs/screens/short passes and displays quickness/balance to make tackles in space vs. RB with adequate AA. Good upfield burst vs. Pass - utilizes upper body strength/explosion to drive solid OT back into pocket with speed/balance to dip inside shoulder and bend to disrupt pocket with speed rush. Possesses good PR plan - shows quick, accurate hands as an edge rusher to stab OT inside/outside elbow and rip through to create pressure and set-up rip-dip counter move to penetrate the B gap. An explosive leaper with solid timing to get hands in passing lanes at the LOS. Executes Flat/Buzz Zone responsibility and displays AA/Zone awareness to stay underneath intermediate routes/match short outside breaking routes from solid RB/TE. Adequate mental processing who is slow to K&D playside vs. inside/outside Zone schemes and displays adequate physical toughness due to an inability to leverage Force responsibility vs. OT/solid TE. Struggles to quickly diagnose A/B/C Gap schemes with adequate toughness/UOH/marginal arm length displayed by an inability to locate runners in the backfield, leverage gap responsibilities at POA, and create separation/disengage from OT/solid TE. Lacks physical toughness to seek/initiate head-on contact and make tackles at the POA. Fails to pursue efficiently with proper pad level and displays deficient COD/agility to make tackles in space vs. runners with solid AA. Possesses adequate mental toughness/stamina who struggles to go full speed as a pass rusher more than two plays in a row - this reveals itself through a conscious effort to conserve energy on early downs to prepare for passing situations. Relies on bull rush when tired and lacks arm length/hand timing to lock-out/forklift and disengage from solid OT. Marginal in Hook/Curl Zone coverage - lacks mental processing/COD to identify then pick-up/exchange short/intermediate route concepts while maintaining depth integrity. In the NFL, a 3-4 OLB in a defensive scheme that will primarily utilize him as a weakside edge rusher and in Flat/Buzz Zone responsibility in Zone blitz schemes; as 4-3 DE in a defensive scheme that will align him as a weakside 7-9 Tech that you can win in spite of who wins with explosive upfield burst/quick hands as a pass rusher and with motor/discipline/long speed as a weakside run defender. Lacks mental processing/UOH/physical/mental toughness to win vs. run at the POA or as the end man on the LOS vs. outside run.
